Dear All,

As we begin the ninth volume of our newsletter, I am pleased to announce that our department is eagerly awaiting the expert inspection for NBA (National Board of Accreditation) accreditation—a significant milestone in our pursuit of excellence and development. This accreditation signifies our commitment to upholding the highest standards of quality in education and is a testament to the hard work and dedication of our faculty, staff, and students. While we await the outcome of this inspection, let us continue our efforts to enhance the overall development of our college.

From infrastructure improvements and faculty development initiatives to curriculum enhancements and student support services, we are committed to creating an environment that fosters learning, innovation, and success for all members of our community.

Together, let us work towards achieving our goals and realizing our vision of becoming a premier institution of civil engineering education and research in the region.

Warm regards...

Dear All,

As we enter another year, it is important to reaffirm our commitment to outcome-based education—a philosophy that guides our efforts to prepare students for success in their academic, professional, and personal lives. Our goal is not only to impart knowledge but also to ensure that our students develop the skills, competencies, and attitudes needed to thrive in today's dynamic and ever-changing world.

Through a holistic approach to education that emphasizes experiential learning, critical thinking, problem-solving, and communication skills, we aim to empower our students to become lifelong learners and effective contributors to society.

As we work towards this goal, it is essential that we remain focused, motivated, and dedicated to continuous improvement and innovation in all aspects of our educational programs. Let us collaborate, inspire, and support one another as we strive to achieve excellence in teaching, research, and service.

Warm regards...
